

Weavers' Exhibition Draws Bestselling author, Ambassador Siv
Asia Society Global Newsletter, December 7, 2013

Sichan Siv, bestselling author of Golden Bones, and his wife Martha Pattillo, came to the Texas Center to view current exhibitions Weavers' Stories from Island Southeast Asia and Between History and New Horizons: Photography of Women, Work, and Community in Laos. Ambassador Siv's own experience exemplifies his resilience. He escaped Cambodia's killing fields in 1976, arriving as a refugee in America with only $2, and went on to earn a master of international affairs from Columbia University.
